WILSON ILL, CANCELLS REMAINDER OF TRIP

Sickness Due to Over Exertion on His Long Tour.

SPEEDING TO CAPITAL

Democrats Have No Hope of Ratifying Document Without Reservations.

ON BOARD PRESIDENT WILSON'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Sept. 26.—Ill from over-exertion on his long tour for the peace treaty, President Wilson today cancelled the speaking dates remaining on his schedule and turned back toward Washington.

The president acted under orders from his physician, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, who said in a formal statement late today that Mr. Wilson was suffering from nervous exhaustion, and that while his condition was "not"alarming, a considerable period of rest would be "necessary for his recovery."

Speeding Toward Capital.

After a few days at the capital, where the president's special train will arrive on Sunday morning at the end of a fast run halfway across the continent, the president may go to some secluded rest resort for a complete vacation from the official cares which have occupied his attention continuously for many months.

A plan for Mr. Wilson to go to New York late next week to welcome King Albert, the sovereign of Belgium, virtually has been abandoned but the president expects to receive the nation's visitor later at the white house. All other engagements for the immediate future have been cancelled.

After a night of illness, during which Dr. Grayson and Mrs. Wilson were in almost constant attendance upon him, the president decided to abandon his trip shortly after nine o'clock this morning while his train was at Wichita Kansas. He did not leave his private car there and during most of the day he was in bed. In the afternoon and evening he got some sleep and was able to take some nourishment.

Dr. Grayson's Statement.

Dr. Grayson's statement follows:

"President Wilson's condition is due to overwork. The trouble dates back to an attack of influenza last April in Paris from which he has never entirely recovered. The president's activities on this trip have overtaxed his strength and he is suffering from nervous exhaustion. His condition is not alarming but it will be necessary for his recovery that he have rest and quiet for a considerable time.

(Signed) "Grayson."

At the same time Secretary Tumulty issued this statement:

"Upon the advice of Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the president's physician, it has become necessary to cancel all the president's engagements for the immediate future."

During the day the president slept some and ate light food Dr. Grayson remained in the president's private car much of the afternoon.

Has Made Forty Speeches.

Since he left Weshington September 3, the president has delivered forty speeches for the treaty and when he reached Wichita had traveled more than 8,200 miles on his original ten thousand mile schedule. Beside the Wichita speech he was to have spoken tonight at Oklahoma City; tomorrow at Little Rock and Memphis and Monday at Louisville, reaching Washington on Tuesday.

Cancellation of the remainder of the trip was announced in a statement by Secretary Tumulty and later the secretary issued another statement announcing cancellation of the president's other engagements for the immediate future.

Altho Mr. Wilson's illness did not take an aggressive turn until late last night, he had not been entirely well since he left Washington on Sept. 3. A slight cold several times has handicapped him in speaking and for several days he has suffered from headache. After leaving his train for a three mile walk late yesterday near Pueblo, Colo., however, he seemed in much better trim. In the evening Dr. Grayson spent some time with him and during the night made another visit to the presidential private car. He found that the president was not sleeping well and that Mrs. Wilson, who has been his constant companion during the trip had been up most of the night attending to his wants. When the physician left Mr. Wilson seemed to be resting more quietly.

Had Restless Night

At 5 o'clock this morning, however, Mrs. Wilson summoned a secret service man on guard at the entrance of the presidential car and asked that Dr. Grayson again be called. Virtually without sleep during the night, the president was in a nervous condition Toward morning, however, he seemed to be better and again was able to go to sleep. Rising early, Mrs. Wilson was dressed before his train reached Wichita at nine o'clock, and was preparing some notes for his address at Wichita. It was then that Dr. Grayson, after an examination, took a resolute stand against continuance of the speaking trip. Secretary Tumulty was called into the consultation and the two prevailed upon the president to abandon his plan and return to the capitol.

Meantime the train officials, acting on orders from Dr. Grayson and Secretary Tumulty had sidetracked the presidential special on the outskirts of Wichita, a mile away from the station where a crowd was waiting for the chief executive to appear.

Urged to Take Long Rest.

In order that the president's recovery may be complete his friends and advisers purpose being insistent in their request that he take a vacation in the near future. It has been suggested that he go to some quiet place for rest and recreation. Whether he will do so remains to be determined by the state of his health after he reaches Washington. Should a vacation be decided on it is understood Mr. Wilson will insist that it be postponed until after he has welcomed King Albert to this country. Plans already had been made it became known today for the president to go to New York late next week to greet the royal visitor. These plans now are held in abeyance and should they be cancelled it is declared to be certain that Mr. Wilson at least will arrange to extend the welcome in Washington.

Plans for the labor and industrial conference which the president has called to meet in Washington on October 6 will not be changed white house officials said today regardless of Mr. Wilson's ability to take part in the sessions.

Arrive Washington Sunday.

The presidential special left Wichita shortly before noon and the run to Washington will be virtually without stops. It is due at the acpital at 8 a. m. on Sunday.

After the decision to abandon the remainder of the speaking tour had been reached, Dr. Grayson persuaded the president to go to bed again and he remained here most of the afternoon. He issued a short statement or regret to the people of Kansas, however, and sent similar messages to the local committees at the points remaining on his schedule. When it turned eastward from Wichita the presidential special had a clear track and was put on a schedule as fast as railway officials thought consistent with safety. Informed of the decision to return direct instead of swinging southward thru Oklahoma City, Little Rock and Memphis the railroad administration quickly shifted its plans and ordered traffic tied up wherever it was necessary to give the special the right of way.

Old Affliction.

The digestive derangement from which the president is suffering is not a new affliction. For several years he has had occasional attacks of stomach trouble and after his return from France in July was in bed for two days. On the advice of his physician he has been particularly careful in diet and during the present trip has abstained from eating anything except the food prescribed by Dr. Grayson.

More than once since he left Washington, it became known today Mr. Wilson has been unable to eat more than a few mouthfuls at dinner and has made his evening address under a trying physical strain. He kept that a secret however, and even the officials nearest him did not know of his indisposition. Everywhere he has met the crowds smilingly and has put vigorous gestures into all of his speeches.

Besides his work for the treaty he has disposed of considerable executive business aboard his private car signing bills and resolutions and carrying on an extensive corespondence. He has a force of stenographers with him but he also carries his own typewriter and some times has been up until eleven o'clock at night pounding out letters and notes he wanted to attend to in person. Many messages of sympathy were received aboard the presidential train during the afternoon and evening. Despite the quick shift in the train's schedule news of the change spread rapidly and small crowds had gathered at almost every station along the way but they were not the cheering crowds with which the members of the presidential party had become familiar. For the most part they wore a sober and respectful air and stood quiet while the train passed by.

SENATE SPEEDS UP WORK ON PEACE TREATY

Pact Called Up Two Hours Ahead of Time.

SEN. CUMMINS SPEAKS

Committee Will Act Today on Proposed Strike Against Bethlehem Co.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The German peace treaty got nearly six hours of speeding up in the senate today but without reaching the Fall amendments which had been made the special order of business by a strict party vote earlier in the week. Chairman Lodge of the foreign relations committee called up the pact two hours ahead of the regular schedule and from that time until adjournment it was discussed continually. Just before the discussion started with an address by Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, attacking the league of nations covenant, Republicans and Democrats alike had heard reports that the president on his way home from his western speaking trip would be advised Monday perhaps by some Democratic leaders that there was no hope of ratifying the treaty without reservations. There was no reference however, in the long debate, to the president's cancellation of his speaking program.

Method of Procedure.

After a colloquy between Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, in charge of the administration forces and Senator Lodge concerning method of procedure relating to the Fall amendments, which would exempt the United States from representation on foreign commissions creating under the treaty, reading of that part of the printed text taking in the last of the 32 amendments was ordered. But the reading was never started. Senator Hitchcock had contended that the agreement was to vote on the amendments today, but calling for the record Senator Lodge and others said only consideration was to begin today and in order to save time it was further agreed to get thru with the reading before opening the debate.

Senator Williams had just re- Wisconsin, asked permission to put into the record certain documents sent to him from California concerning Senator Johnson's fight against the league of nations.

Senator William had just remarked that Senator Johnson was returning to California to continue his attack on the president and to look after his political fences, when the latter walked down the aisle.

That opened the flood gates of oratory and the senate never got down to its reading. Vice-President Marshall announced, however, that the business before the senate was the Fall amendments, which would come up automatically every day at 2 o'clock or earlier, and while he did not expect the debate to deal solely with this matter, the amendments would remain the order of business until settled.

Senator Johnson, who started tonight for California, pleaded for adoption of his amendment to the league covenant which would give the United States the same voting power as Great Britain and declared he was going among the people to point out to them that the pact was an affront to the patriotism of the American people. He said that his amendment, already passed over temporarily, would not be taken up now because of an agreement or tacit understanding with some Democrats and Republicans who were not in favor of it.

Brandegee Against Treaty.

Senator Brandegee, Republican of Connecticut, and a member of the foreign relations committee announced in the course of a speech that he would vote against the treaty. He said he wanted to get the American army out of Europe and to keep this country from the entanglements and embroilments of Europe whose map now resembles a kaleidiscope.

Declaring that nine tenths of the men who were in service were opposed to the league, Senator Brandegee said the argument that it must not be amended because that would mean sending it back to conference, was pusilanimous.

"If the senate has the courage and patriotism to perform its manifest duty," Senator Brandegee said, "it will ask that the United States be put on the same voting basis as the British Empire. And if they want us in this league they will agree to this before you can count six which is England's number of votes to our one."

"The senator declared that if the president's interpretation of article ten was correct—that American troops could not be sent abroad without the consent of congress—he could see no reason why it should not be so stated in the covenant."

Hale For Reservations.

Senator Hale, Republican of Maine, argued that all objections could have been handled at Versailles "if we had had representatives there looking after American interests." He urged strong reservations to protect American interests and expressing sympathy with amendments said he believed they be taken care of as amendments.

SUMMARY OF LATEST STRIKE DEVELOPMENTS

Chief developments on the fifth day of the great steel strike were:

1. Definition of the strike issue as the right of employes "to be heard, to organize and to have some voice in determining conditions under which they labor," made by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor before the senate labor committee in Washingon.

2. Calling of a meeting of the strikers' national committee in Pittsburgh today to make final arrangements for the strike of 35,000 employes of the Bethlehem Steel company, set for Monday.

3. Announcement that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., principal owner of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, will take no part in the strike of 6,000 workers at the Pueblo plant.

4. Claim by union officials that workers in the Youngstown district, at a meeting held to vote on the question of returning to work has decided against such a move.

5. Condemnation of foreign agitators and commendation of Sheriff William Haddock of Allegheny county by a coroner's jury in Pittsburgh, which returned a verdict of "death from gunshot wounds inflicted by persons unknown while an attack was being made on deputy sheriffs during a riot," in the case of a woman organizer and striker whom the steel workers claimed had been murdered at West Natrona, Pa.

6. Apparent deadlock, marked by lack of violence apparently prevailing in the chief steel centers.

TELL OF PRISON HORRORS

Congressmen Return from Investigation Trip to France.

Every Man Responsible for the Outrages Will Be Brought to Justice.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Bringing a report of "outrageous cruelities perpetrated on American soldiers" in prisons of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, the congressional committee sent overseas to investigate tales or army prison horrors, arrived here tonight on the Transport Agamemnon from Brest. The party was composed of Representatives Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota, chairman; Oscar N. Bland of Indiana and Henry D. Flood of Virginia.

"Conditions were appalling," Representative Bland, as soon as the Agamemnon docked. "Nothing like this treatment of our men had ever been known before in the history of the American army. We have copies of records, reports testimony of inspectors, courts martial officers, so as to be enabled to fix responsibility."

Representative Bland held that Col. Grinstead and General Strong were responsible for "unprecedented cruelties" at Prison Farm No. 2 near Paris and that if General Strong, who was over Colonel Grinstead, did not know of conditions he should have.

He said that General Hartz for months was in the same building where thousands of outrages were committed. Lack of food ,heat, and air, and nauseating sanitary conditions were before his eyes and the reports showing their conditions were on file in his office, Mr. Bland said.

Three facts stand out Mr. Bland said, first, that the most horrible and revolting cruelties existed; second that higher officers responsible have not been made to atone for these wrongs, third, that no reasonable excuse for the same has been offered by the war department. It is clearly up to them.

Congressman Bland added:

"It is the intention of the committee to see that every man in any way responsible for the outrages will be brought to justice before the forum of public opinion."

The committee left tonight for Washington.

ESTABLISH NEW ROUTE ON P. P. H. & J. HIGHWAY

Officers Make Changes in Vicinity of Nortonville—Trip Was Made Over Route Yesterday—Picnic Dinner at Clarence Daltons.

L. R. Craig, president of the P. P. & H. & J. highway in company with Commissioners Magill and Wyatt and County Clerk Riggs made a journey over the trail to the Macoupin county line Friday.

In the vicinity of Nortonville they were met by Samuel Jones, road commissioner of District No. 11, and Marion Spires, commissioner of Road District No. 12.

A change will be made in the trail in this vicinity talking it out of the timber and running it along the section line. This work was contracted to people in that locality and will include the building of nine small culverts and two large ones. A very satisfactory price was received for the work.

At the county line between Morgan and Macoupin counties they met the highway commissioners of Macoupin and will work in conjunction with the officers of Macoupin in making some changes along the county line.

At noon a splendid basket dinner was served at the home of Clarence Dalton who has been one of the prime movers in the trail. This dinner was furnished by the ladies in the vicinity and 75 were served and it was a dinner long to be remembered.

Mr. Craig announced last night that a meeting of the trail officers would be held here about October 15 at which time there will be representatives from Peoria, Pekin, Havana and other cities. A meeting is also scheduled for Carlinville at an early date.

LANDIS STOPS PICKETING

Issues Order Restraining Union Men from Plant.

Several Minor Disturbances Reported Near American Steel Wire Company Works.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Federal Judge Landis today issued a temporary injunction restraining union steel men from picketing the plant of the Pollak Steel company, an independent concern in South Chicago. The same company filed a petition for an injunction a few days ago in the state courts but dismissed it. The temporary restraining order was granted when union organizers failed to appear in court. They may obtain a hearing by filing twenty-four hours notice of their appearance and arguments on making the order permanent will be heard next Tuesday. The company represented that 80 per cent of their men were anxious to return to work.

Will Not Send Troops

Except for the decision of Governor Lowden and Adjutant General Dickson of Illinois not to send state troops to Waukegan where several minor disturbances near the plant of the American Steel & Wire company culminated last night in the stoning of automobiles as they left and passed the plant, and the injunction proceedings there were almost no developments in the strike in this district and only a few minor incidents.

Adjutant General Dickson reported to the governor that the situation at Waukegan was not so dangerous as to require the presence of troops and Sheriff Elmer Green employed between 200 and 300 special deputies and said more would be sworn in, although he said attempts to operate the steel and wire plant which has been reduced to about 20 per cent of its forces, according to reports probably would result in trouble.

Better Conditions at Gary.

While there were some evidences of better conditions in the mills at both Gary, Ind., and South Chicago, union leaders said they had lost no ground and still held the mills virtually helpless.

About 4,000 men were reported at work in the Illinois Steel plant at South Chicago, the same number claimed yesterday by sources close to the officials and some sheets were rolled, the first actual steel making since the strike began.

At the huge Gary works, information from within the mills was to the effect that 2,500 men were at work, with a few of the mills, furnaces and coke ovens in operation.

Union leaders denied those reports and reiterated statements that superintendents and foremen were carrying on the operations of which there was some evidence. Quiet prevailed at most points throughout the districts without further attempts on the part of the steel companies to operate or increase their forces.

Nine Held in $10,000 Bonds

Nine men were held in $10,000 bonds each at Waukegan today in connection with disturbances last night. Two men were sent to jail on charges of participating in stoning of automobiles at Gary. Two men were fined nominal sums in South Chicago for defying policemen who sought to learn their identity. A watchman at South Chicago was reported beaten by strikers. At one mill two pickets were arrested for alleged attempts to interfere when a truck load of food was being taken into a mill. At Joliet a steel company employe was beaten and a striker was arrested.

RESUME OPERATIONS ON MIDLAND ROAD

Taylorville, Ill., Sept. 25.—Operation of trains on the Chicago and Illinois Midland railroad will be resumed tomorrow pending an arbitrated settlement of demands of employes for more pay. This was agreed to by trainmen at noon today. A strike on the road, which connects this city with Auburn, has been in effect for 90 days.

GREAT BRITAIN NEAR GREAT RAILROAD STRIKE

Government Will Fight with Every Facility.

CALLED FOR TONIGHT

Officials Look at Walkout as a Threat Against the Life of Nation.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Associated Press learns authoritatively that the government takes the view that the railroad strike called for midnight tonight must be fought with every facility at its command even to the employment of armed forces if necessary. The war office announced that it will be necessary to suspend demobilization of the army and cancel all leaves of absence forthwith.

The government looks on the strike as a threat against the life of the community. While it does not propose to take over and operate the railways, the government asserts it will protect any men volunteering for railway service.

Food Rations Reduced

The food ministry announced tonight that in view of the "state emergency" it would be necessary to reduce the weekly ration of butter per person to one ounce and sugar to six ounces, while the meat ration would be limited to the value of 20 pence per person.

The food controller tonight issued an order virtually reviving the war measures regardng food by providing hoarding beyond one week's supply, and applying the rationing of meats to public eating houses, which will not be allowed to serve sugar, milk or butter separately, except to children under ten years old.

The order comes into operation tomorrow. Local food controllers are empowered to fix maximum prices of articles which previously have not been affected by such methods.

All persons able to drive vehicles are invited to offer their services to the government.

Begins at Midnight.

The countrywide strike of railway men, due to begin at midnight follows the refusal of the national union of railway men to accept the government's proposals regarding the fixing of a permanent rate of wages as a basis for further negotations.

Preparations have been made to continue the transportation of necessities by motor cars and the war office has suspended all leaves of absence and further demobilization of the military forces.

The government announced that in order to assure food supplies during the strike it may be necessary entirely to suspend the transportation of coal.

GOMPERS DEFINES STEEL STRIKE

Appears Before Senate Committee as Labor's Second Witness—Declares Gary Could Have Stopped Trouble

Washington, Sept. 26.—The issue in the nation-wide steel strike was defined today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as recognition of the right of employs "to be heard, to organize and to have some voice in determining conditions under which they labor."

Appearing as labor's second witness in the senate labor committee's investigation of the steel strike, President Gompers drew from his experiences as chairman of the first committee to organize the steel industry and traced the history or organized labor's efforts to unionize the steel workers. When he finished the committee adjourned until next Wednesday at which time E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation has promised to appear.

Responsibility for the strike he laid at the door of Mr. Gary, who could have stopped it, he said, by granting a confererce to the strike committee.

The intention to call Wiliam Z. Foster tomorrow was abandoned altho members of the committee intend to call him later.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO U. S. ARRIVES

New York, Sept. 26.—Arriving here late today aboard the steamship Mauretania to assume his new post as British ambassador to the United States Viscount Edward Gray, wearing black glasses, deplored his poor eyesight which compelled him to withdraw for three years from public life, and which, he said, would make his mission in this country "comparatively short."

Greeted by a group of British officers from the embassy in Washington, headed by Robert S. Lindsay, Viscount Gray expressed his delight at the attention shown him by newspapermen and photographers. He will leave at once for Washington.

The new ambassador asserted that he had not come to put forward any new proposals for treaties and alliances, but that his object in accepting the post was to romote the existing good will between American and British peoples as far as he had the strength or the opportunity.

ARMY-NAVY BALLOONS OFF IN BIG RACE

Craft Leaves St. Louis Last Evening—One Reported Passing Over Mt. Sterling at 10:55 Friday Evening.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 26.—The first balloon in the army and navy derby started at 6:05 tonight. The craft opening the race represented the navy. It was followed at regular intervals by all of the entrants, excepting one navy balloon in which a leak was found and which will leave as soon as repaired.

The leading balloon was manned by Ensign J. H. Stevens and Lieut. W. R. Reed of the United States naval station, Pensacola, Fla. This was closely followed by the first army balloon with Captain E. P. Phillips and Lieut. Byron T. Burt of Langley Field, Virginia in the basket.

The second navy balloon manned by Lieut. H. W. Hoyt and Ensign F. W. Reichelderfer, developed a leak and as this had not been repaired when its time came to take the air the entrant was passed and the second army balloon containing Lieut. Col. Jacob Wuest and Lieut. William E. Huffmann agcended. Then came the navy balloon operated by Lieut. R. E. Emerson and Ensign F. S. Lohman to be followed almost immediately by the last army balloon with Liept. Isaac H. Coulter and Lieut. Harold K. Hine in charge.

The last army balloon left the field at 6:30 p. m.

The starting was done by Captain Charles J. Glidden of New York, while the officers in charge of the race and to whom the balloonists will report when they finally alight, were Major A. B. Lambert, and Lieut. Edwin F. Hermanns of the United States air service.

One Balloon Sighted.

Mt. Sterling, Ill., Sept. 26.—One of the balloons passed Mr. Sterling in Brown county at 10:55 o'clock. The balloon was flying at a height of about 300 yards and going to the north at a high speed.

The pilot inquired from the people on the ground his location. Those that saw the craft could not distinguish which one it was.

GREAT INDUSTRIAL STRUGGLE UNCHANGED

Each Side Awaiting Other to Make a Move.

QUIET IN PITTSBURGH

Dr. Grayson Issues Statement Saying President's Condition Is Not Alarming.

PITTSBRUGH, Sept. 26.—The close of the fifth day of the steel workers strike found each side in the great industrial struggle apparently waiting for the other to make the next move. There were no notable changes discernible and from information gleaned from the headfuarters of the strikers' national committee and from the offices of the larger steel companies in the Pittsburgh district no material developments are expected before Monday. Representatives of several large corporations including the Carnegie Steel company let it be known that they look for a big influx of men when the whistles blow on Monday morning. It was contended by them that the strikers would then have a week of idlness, and finding that a large number of men are still at work and their own funds getting low thousands would change their minds and seek their old jobs. Assurances by police authorities and company officials it was also pointed out would have an influence on strikers who are favorable to returning to work.

Big Drive Monday.

These views were combatted by William Z. Foster, secretary of the Steel Workers' national committee who said a drive would be made on Monday on all plants that are still in operation. He said that the "bulk of the steel workers in the Pittsburgh district had walked out of the mills and he denied that the men were deserting the union and returning to work.

"There has been a continual stream of men out of the Homestead works," Mr. Foster said. "The situation looks brighter than ever. We are going to shut down the mills entirely."

Mr. Foster also announced that the strike will be enforced against the Jones & Laughlin company plants on the south side and in Soho, on Monday. There are about 12,000 men employed in these mills.

Act at Bethlehem Today.

During the week a number of employes walked out crippling many departments of that company, he said. A meeting of the strikers national committee has been arranged for tomorrow morning to take further and probably final action with relation to the proposed strike against the Bethlehem company, the largest steel interest next to the United States Steel corporation. The strike has been fixed for nert Monday morning and the question of making it effective will be considered by the committee tomorrow.

President E. G. Grace of the Bethlehem Steel company sent a reply to the union leaders yesterday announcing that the company would not depart from its present method of dealing with its employes or grant the union a conference. Secretary Fotser of the national committee declines to make the letter public.

Quiet in Pittsburgh.

It was a quiet day in the Pittsburgh district. There was an exchange of shots between state police and some men near Clairton twenty miles from Pittsburgh in which no one was hurt. Arrests continue to be made in different places of men who are usually charged with loitering and disorderly conduct.

Continuing the fight for free speech and free assemblage the union committee having this matter in charge today was busy making arrangements to hold mass meetings of the workers in many mill towns. There will be meetings in Homestead and Natroni with the consent of Sheriff Haddock of Allegheny county, it was stated, and deputy sheriffs will be sent to prevent interference by state police.

Sheriff Haddock announced today that he had given the strikers permission to hold meetings in halls in any city or town where "local authorities had not banished such gatherings."

He said that the committee had misinterpreted his explanations when they announced he had granted permission to hold meetings in "any city or town where ever they could obtain a hall.

The sheriff said that he could not overrule local authorities in regard to meetings.

If congress is unable to find some satisfactory solution of the troubles between the steel workers and the manufacturing companies perhaps they had better send for Lloyd George. The Welch pacificator has just settled the railroad troubles in England and has to his credit a long list of labor settleemnts. There is no doubt about his strength with the labor interests of England and until the tide changes he is certainly a power in preserving the balance between capital and labor in Great Britain.

Every citizen will hope that President Wilsons illness will not be of long duration or of a serious kind. There will not be the same universal feeling of regret that his tour across country has been abandoned. The value of such presidential jaunts, even to the special causes for which they were planned, has always been doubtful. Whatever the president has accomplished in the moulding of sentiment on peace league program has been more than offset by the speaking campaign of his opponents. Another good thing is that the people have not been bearing the expense of the senatorial travelers.

Judge Gary, while unwilling to confer with the committee of the steel workers, has signified his intention of attending the conference of capital and labor representatives to be held early in October. It is of course uncertain what this conference will accomplish, but it is a movement in the right direction. Most of the differences between capital and labor are directly attributable to the lack of understanding between them, and to a general suspicion because of that lack of understanding. Frequent conferences of labor and capital might mean the ironing out of many differences.

THE QUESTION AND ANSWER METHOD.

The financial primer prepared for the public by the joint committee of citizens and city council is a very informing document. This question and answer method is much simpler and plainer than a general statement about the bond issue and its purposes. By this question and answer method the important facts are brought out plainly. Any citizen who has any question in his mind with reference to the bond issue is pretty sure to find it answered by even a casual reading of the financial primer. But a casual reading is just what should not be given. The questions which underlie this bond issue proposal are of such vital interest to the city as a whole, and to every individual citizen, that all the facts are of importance.

As a matter of fairness to yourself and to your city, if you have some lurking doubt that the issue of bonds not necessary or desirable, read this financial primer and see if the doubt is not removed. If you are definitely opposed to the bond issue, then in fairness to yourself and your city, no not fail to read eevry paragraph of that statement. It is a straight forward, open-minded statement of the financial situation and the reasons that a bond issue is suggested and advocated.

CLEMENCEAU IS WISE DIPLOMAT

Here is an interesting editorial tribute to the astuteness of Premier Clemenceau:

"Replying to critics of the French government, Premier Clemenceau has given the people of that country assurance that the future peace of France is assured, regardless of what action the United States takes with reference to the League of Nations.

"Clemenceau points out that the treaties which were negotiated with England and the United States, and which were designed to give France assurance of aid in the event of another invasion, make it unnecessary for her to rely on the creation of an international organization. She is taken care of outside of the league.

"The explanation of the French premier confirms all that has been said in praise of the old man's diplomatic sagacity and far-sightedness. Apparently, the aged French political leader retains the mental force of his youth and still possesses an exceptional faculty for weighing events of the present and estimating their worth in terms of the future. No statesman could have performed better service for his people than did Clemenceau at the peace conference."

WAR RISK INSURANCE FACTS

War risk insurance claims amounting to $39,819,700 are being paid to the families of Illinois men who died while in the military and naval service. These payments are received by the beneficiaries named in 4,555 policies, the average of which was $8,740. In addition to these death claims, the government is providing for the families of 1,910 disabled men.

The war risk insurance bureau has been established by the government as a permanent institution in recognition of the services which veterans of the world war gave to their country. Claims of 3,221 persons are now under investigation in the state and are repidly being adjusted.

Records of the war risk insurance bureau show that the average man in service died at 23 years old. More than 47 per cent of the men who carried government insurance named their mothers as beneficiaries. However, in compensation claims, the majority were made payable to the wives and children of the married men who held the policies.

In order to reach soldiers, sailors and marines who have allowed their insurance to lapse, the bureau has organized a voluntary field force which will endeavor to conserve as much as possible of the nearly $40,000,000,000 of insurance carried by the men in service. This nationwide field force consists of organizations such as the Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus, War Camp Community Service, Y. M. C. A. and Jewish Welfare association. In addition more than 500,000 life insurance agents have been enlisted, as well as thousands of bankers, physicians, manufacturers and representatives of various industries.

THE WAR LOSSES.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

We have been given from time to time all sorts of casualty reports, each larger than the other, but now the War Department has issued what it calls a complete report, placing the dead at 116,492, and the wounded at 205,690, a total of 322,182. The missing are reported as none. It is impossible that this can be true. There never was a war of any magnitude where there were not missing men for whom it was impossible to account. There are numerous cases right here in St. Louis of men whose relatives can secure no information about them whatever from the War Department or the Red Cross, save that they are missing and unaccounted for. The only way the War Department can make a paper showing of this sort is arbitrarily to charge to killed all about whom its records are incomplete. However satisfactory this may be to War Department bookkeeping it is not satisfactory to relatives. To do this and report to the country that there are no missing is neither keeping the records straight for history nor telling the truth to the people.

Assuming that the other figures are correct, and after deducting those who died of disease and other causes, there are left 50,227 who were killed in action or died of wounds. This is one-fifth of the total casualties. In this the usual proportions were maintained. There was in ths war a greater deadliness of casualties from high explosives and machine gun bullets than in former wars, but at the same time there was more prompt and more scientific and successful surgical treatment, thus preserving the balance. The death of only 58,673 from disease in an army of approximately 4,000,000 men in two years with an epidemic of influenza as a complication, is such a record as no previous war ever made. The one silver lining to the dark cloud of war's horrors is the greater medical and surgical skill and the more efficient hospital organization, especially the wonderful and skilled work of women nurses, which have done so much to save life and relieve suffering.

Rippling Rhyms

BEATING THE COST

Next year I'll rent a patch of ground, and plant string beans and morning glories and laugh when neighbors come around with profiteer and hard luck stories. To old time methods let's get closer, let's try our fathers' thrifty plans, and quit this chasing to the grocer to buy our provender in cans. When I was young, in distant ages, our garden was a sight to see, with succotash and pea-green gages, and cabbage-heads in groups of three; and pumpkin vines grew on a trellis, and squashes glimmered, golden bright, until the neighbors all grew jealous, and stole our melons in the night. And all the year we lived like princes on garden sass we raised ourselves, and always had reserves of quinces and egg plants on the larder shelves. In Fall with spuds we filled the cellar, we killed a pig and smoked the hams, and for the profiteering feller we didn't care three sultry hoots. And now we never think of rearing a spud, a pumpkin or a prune, but to the grocer go careering, and blow with him our last doubloon. Oh let's get back to old time cases and raise the slaw and things we eat, and show we're sane, and save our faces, and beat the High Cost and repeat.

THE OBSERVATORY

All that is needed to double the cost of living again is a few more strikes.

The mayor of Milwaukee's refusal to invite Prince Albert and his royal party to visit his city affords the prince an opportunity to spend more time in America.

The peculiar thing about the logic of those who do not want law is that they want to make their opponents obey the law.

A gypsy leader threatened to inflict the gypsy curse on the mayor of a Nebraska city which had refused to allow the band to remain in the municipality, and the local paper asks what the gypsy curse is. One would surmise that it is the bodily odor which resembles that of an unkept hog pen.

Many a young man's breast leaves as happily under a new fraternity pledge pin or society emblem as if it were a distinguished service cross.

Burns Hegler, after reading the story of a ghost which deserted the house it had been haunting when they put a bathroom in it, assumes that it was the ghost of a Bolshevik.

A skelve mill roller in the steel mill gets $23.72 for an eight hour day. If we were a skelve mill roller, the bright, silvery moon would have nothing on us for rolling on, ever on.

The more business the auctioneer picks up the more he knocks down.

If the price keeps rising on the farms in Iowa and this state which keep selling every day for $500 an acre, public convenience will demand that they be cut up and sold by the front foot.

A Dismal Outlook.

"Sir," sternly said the gent whose countenance was as solemn and elongated as that of a rare old fiddle. "I have irrefutable evidence that the end of the world will come in exactly seventy two years from today." "Well, now, that is too bad," returned Hosetter Smith. "What a disappointment it will be never to know whether the League of Nations would have been signed or not."

Careless.

Chicago Daily News: In Washington it is rumored that Colonel House has lost the president's ear. How careless of him!

Worth the Cost.

Charleston Evening Post: The high cost of living inquiries will cost the country more than $1,000,000 but if they succeed in reducing half a dozen commodities a few cents each they will be worth the money expended.

Wound Up in Red Tape.

Springfield, Mass., Republican: Armenia's fate seems to give the supreme council less concern than the etiquet of warning Turkey to desist from massacre. The council is emphatically a deliberate body.

Profiting by a Vacation.

New York World: There are various ways of spending a vacation. The clergyman who devoted his holiday at a little Vermont village to the discovery of two new comets put it to an unusual use.

Mr. Bryan Is Right.

B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: It is pleasure to find ourself, now and again, in agreement with the Hon. W. J. Bryan. We are quite with him in his war against near beer. It is terrible stuff.

Coming Universal Strike.

St. Joseph Gazette; Nearly everybody seems to be striking except Mr. Common People, the Consuming Public. And if he gets on strike and stops paying some thing is going to happen.

Speaking of Elephants.

Minneapolis Journal: Remember "the man with an elephant on his hands?" Uncle Sam would like to swap off his iron horse for that animal.

Perfect Health is Yours If the Blood is Kept Pure

Almost Every Human Ailment is Directly Traceable to Impurities in the Blood

You can not overestimate the importance of keeping the blood free of impurities. When you realize that the heart is constantly pumping this vital fluid to all parts of the body, you can easily see that any impurity in the blood will cause serious complications.

Any slight disorder or impurity that creeps into the blood is a source of danger, for every vital organ of the body depends upon the blood supply to properly perform its functions.

Many painful and dangerous diseases are the direct result of a bad condition of the blood. Among the most serious are rheumatism with torturing pains; catarrh, often a forerunner of dread consumption; scrofula, eczema, tetter, erysipelas and other disfiguring skin diseases; malaria, which makes the strongest men helpless and many other diseases are the direct result of impure blood.

You can easily avoid all of these diseases, and rid the system of them, by the use of S. S. S., the wonderful blood remedy that has been in constant use for more than fifty years. S. S. S. cleanses the blood thoroughly, and routs every vestige of impurity. It is sold by druggists everywhere.

As a result there was a splendid attendance at the sale, held at 1 o'clock on the Fairbank farm a mile from Concord. Forty five head of boars and gilts and four pure bred ram lambs were sold. The auctioneers were Col. Ira Cottingham, Col. W. H. Crum, C. Justus Wright and J. C. Hart. H. G. Way was the clerk. The bidding was spirited from the start to the finish and the high class animals were all sold at excellent prices, the boars and gilts ranging from $55 to $175.

A sow of the Way & Fairbank stock, owned by Miss Alma Deterding was sold for $255 and nine gilts from one litter brought prices from $127.50 to $187.50. The nine gilts and their mother brought a total of $1,580. This is certainly a fine showing originating from an investment of $50 made just about a year ago.

Long Experience

Bert Way and Arthur D. Fairbank became associated in the farming and livestock business about two years ago and this was the second sale the firm has held. Mr. Way is a hog grower of long experience and he has a reputation that brought many buyers to the sale. Mr. Way has often won prizes on stock on exhibition at the state fair and a year ago in competitive contest made the best record on examination as a judge of swine.

The arrangements for the sale Friday were ample and convenient. It had been the intention to erect a tent but as the weather was so perfect the canvas was not used. Comfortable seats were at the disposal of the crowd and the show ring was so placed that an excellent view was possible from all sides.

Col. Cottingham is a livestock auctioneer who has made a distinct success in the work and he certainly kept the sale moving yesterday, with the atcive assistance in the show ring of Col. Crum, Messrs. Wright and Hart. Perhaps not all the credit was due the auctioneers for the snappy way the sale moved, for the stock was in the best possible selling condition, and there were hundreds of men present who had come with the firm intention of buying. If they wanted boars or gilts of Poland China stock and of high quality they could not but be satisfied with the offerings. It was a very satisfactory sale from the viewpoint of both sellers and buyers. The Ladies Aid society of Concord served an excellent lunch.

The sale began at 1 o'clock and a large company had assembled an hour or two before that time. Some time was profitably spent in looking over the surroundings on the farm and in getting a view of the stock from which the offerings had been produced.

Four Shropshire rams were then sold as follows: W. O. Smith, $27; Ashford Ator, $27; Abe Liter, $22; James Wallace, $20.

A Special Offering

This concluded the sale of the stock owned by Messrs. Way and Fairbank and then the interest centered about the sale of the sow, Liberty Bell and her nine gilts, the property of Miss Alma Deterding. Gilts Nos. 36 and 38 were purchased in a few minutes' time by W. H. Williamson at $187.50 each; No. 37 went to H. E. Kitner at $135; gilts Nos. 39 and 41 to George Deterding at $135 each; gilts Nos. 40 and 43 to T. H. Pratt at $145 each; gilts Nos. 42 and 44 to George Deterding at $127.50 each. This made the sow and her nine gilts bring the handsome total of $1,580.

There is an interesting story attached to this sale. Miss Deterding purchased a gilt from Way & Fairbank a year ago for $50. The gilt farrowed Feb. 3, 1919, and raised the nine gilts sold yesterday. They were of uniform size and quality and when they were offered the bidding was spirited. The total of $1,580 from an investment of $50 a year ago tells an interesting story of what can be done with livestock of the kind grown on the Way & Fairbank farm.

CASTOR OIL?
Yes, but the children won't know it

If you give your children castor oil give it in palatable form—

You know how disagreeable castor oil is—even the refined oil—sticky, nauseating and somewhat drastic in its action—

NYAL'S Aromatic Castor Oil

obviates all unpleasantness—it is a pleasant tasting preparation particularly adapted to children—they like it, too.

Every bit as effective as the crude castor oil but not at all severe in its action as a cathartic.

Can be given to infants with perfect safety

—if you can't take common castor oil you will find that Nyqal's Aromatic Castor Oil is equally good for you as well.

IMPORTANT REALTY CONTRACT IS MADE

Farm Supply Company Acquires Holdings of Jacksonville Transfer Company—Large Addition to Building Planned—Transfer and Storage Business Will be Continued.

The contracts have been signed for the purchase by the Jacksonville Farm Supply Company of the buildings, business and equipment of the Jacksonville Transfer Company and the deal will be consummated at an early date. It is the intention of the Jacksonville Farm Supply Company to conduct the transfer and storage business in connection with its business as now conducted. However, a large new building will be erected to the south of the present plant of the Transfer Company and will be utilized for the storage and transfer business. The present building of the transfer company will be used for the wholesale business of the Jacksonville Farm Suppy Co. The present quarters of the Farm Supply Company will be used for the retail business.

Began in 1913.

The Jacksonville Farm Supply Company began business in March, 1913, and in a little more than six years its operations have been so largely extended that more extensive quarters are demanded. The fact is that C. T. Mackness and the other officers of the company have for more than a year past been casting about for a location adjoining some one of the railroads where there would be display and storage facilities adequate for the firm's needs.

After thoroughly canvassing the situation, negotiations were opened with Messrs. James McBride and Frank Eads of the Jacksonville Transfer Company with the result that the contract mentioned has been made for the purchase of this company's property on East State street adjoining the Chicago & Alton right of way.

Several Properties Included.

In addition the Farm Supply Company has purchased the warehouse building owned by the Transfer Company on Wolcott street, adjoining the Wabash railroad, and also a lot on Railroad street near the Wabash railroad. Some remodeling will be done very soon on the transfer company building. The entrance will be as at present, at the northeast corner of the building. It is the intention to cut out the partition between the present office and the room now occupied by the Misses Hoffman. Then the south wall of this room will be moved to the south, providing for a display room 75 by 30 feet n dimensions. Just to the south of the display room will be the offices of the Farm Supply Company on a balcony or mezzanine floor plan. These offices will be spacious and in every way conveniently equipped.

The new building for the transfer and storage business will be of concrete and steel construction and will occupy all of the remaining lot. The two buildings will then cover a ground space of 75 by 280 feet. Frank Eades will be in the employ of the Farm Supply Company in charge of the transfer business, and it is possible that James McBride may remain with the supply company.

Buy More Equipment.

Mr. Hagel of the Farm Supply Company was in St. Louis yesterday arranging for the equipment of two trucks which will be immediately added to the equipment of the company. The Farm Supply Company while doing a large retail business, are also manufacturers' agents and jobbers and the retail business is only a small part of the company's operations. The trade territory extends north to Bloomington, nearly across the state east and west and as far south as Cairo. Many shipments are made in car lots and the company has satisfactory and profitable contracts with manufacturing firms who represent them in this extensive territory. Four salesmen are constantly on the road and Charles T. Mackness, the president of the company, makes a great many special trips.

As already indicated, the business of the Jacksonville Farm Supply Company has grown in a rapid and substantial way. Mr. Mackness with his associate officers, M. R. Range and Theodore Hagel, devote their time and thought unreservedly to the business. They are men of experience with broad business vision. This firm early took the motto, "Service, satisfaction, success," and has followed strictly the principles suggested. This means that customers are given service and square treatment and the natural result is satisfaction to all parties concerned. The growth of the business is gratifying to the many friends of the company and a matter of pride to Jacksonville.

TRAFFIC OFFICERS MET AT CITY HALL

Large Number Gathered to Discuss Methods of Law Enforcement — Several New Officers Take Oath.

About forty members of the specal traffic squad of the city met in the council chamber Friday evening with Judge H. P. Samuell to discuss matters pertaining to the enforcement of the traffic laws.

Tells Experiences of Officers

Judge Samuell in opening the meeting, told of some of the experiences of the traffic officers since they had started to work. "We have found," said Judge Samuell, "that most of the people violate the provisions of the traffic ordinance thru ignorance. "Most of those whose attention we have called to law violations have taken it in a good natured way and have endeavored to obey the law. Others have been rather "hard boiled" and it would seem that there are some drivers who will not obey the law unless made to do so. It is these with whom we will have to deal now. This is the most important part of the work and future law observance will depend largely upon how we handle the situation."

The chairman said that one of the biggest problems that confronted the traffic enforcement squad is the congestion at the intersection of South Main street and the square where the street cars take on and discharge passengers. It was his opinion that this matter was one to consider thruout the loop district.

Congestion at S. Main and Square

Supt. Gray of the Railway & Light company said that he and his street car men had tried for several years to solve the problem but had been unable to do so. Mr. Gray said he would be glad if someone could work out a satisfactory solution.

This matter was discussed at length by a number of those present. T. C. MacVicar suggested that posts might be set alongside the track with chains and thus establish a safety zone. In this manner cars approaching a street car would stop and then proceed on such slow speed that there would be no possible chance of an accident.

A motion was made by E. G. Caldwell and seconded by several that the chair appoint a committee to work in conjuncton with Mr. Gray and try to offer some satisfactory solution of conditions at this point.

Pledge Support to Bond Issue

Judge Samuell said that at this time he wanted to call attention of the men present to the coming bond issue. He said he would call on Mayor Crabtree to present the matter.

Mayor Crabtree said that he could only reiterate what he had said at the Rotary meeting and at other gatherings, that the bond issue was a matter for the people and not the council to decide.

Must go Backward or Forward

"The city is now at the crest of a forward movement," said the speaker. "This bond issue election will show whether it is going to do as it has several times in the past, slip backward, or go forward."

"While the financial prmer which was published in the papers today shows that we have reduced the floating indebtedness of the city about $2,100 it has been done by the strictest economy and there has been no forward movement.

"It is true that we have done a number of things. We have improved the streets but that was done with the people's money. We can't go on in this manner forever, because the people will get tired soon of financing the city.

"The coming election resolves itself into this proposition. Whether or not the people want to spread the payment of the city's debt over a period of years or whether they want holders of claims to sue and get judgment. If this is done then it will follow that the council will be mandamused and the levy to pay the debt will be made in one year."

The mayor also called attention to the mistaken idea that the banks held a large amount of the city's paper whch had been secured thru a big discount. He said his bank had $2,900 of this paper and that it was being held as collateral and that only the legal rate of interest was being charged the holders.

Judge Samuell then asked how many preset would signify their intention of voting for the bond issue and get one other person to do so. He asked all who would do so to rise and every person in the room stood. A large number also pledged themselves to work at the polls during the day.

Going back to traffic enforcement Judge Samuell said that the city was at the critical period now. The people whom they would have to deal with from now on were ones who had little regard for any law and it would require a firm hand and fines to bring them to their senses.

New Traffic Ordinance

The chair also brought up the matter of a new traffic ordinance. A number of suggestions were made. F. E. Farrell offered a motion that the chair appoint a committee to draft an ordinance and submit it for consideration at the next meeting.

Several new members of the traffic squad were then sworn in by Mayor Crabtree and Ald. Cain, chairman of the police committee, distributed the new badges of authority to the officers. F. E. Farrell drew 113 and objected and wanted 111 but finally was prevailed upon to keep the unlucky number.

The chair appointed on the committee to take up the traffic problem at South Main street and the square, E. H. Gray, T. C. MacVicar, E. G. Caldwell and Harrison King. He announced that he would make the appointment of the committee to draft the ordinance later. The meeting then adjourned.

TOWN TALK

Governmental recognition of the power of advertising to accomplish a definite purpose is one of the features of the national naval recruiting campaign which opened Thursday and which is to continue to Nov. 7. The government will spend $300,000 in 7,400 newspapers thruout the country, representing those of more than 1,000 circulation.

Reducing

With the price of men's felt hats soaring out of sight, the cloth hat, which can still be bought at within $1 of the former price, seems to be gaining favor. A poll of one office hat rack showed seven cloth hats to nine felt hats, but several of the felts appeared of the vintage of that happy day when $3 would buy a toppy headpiece.

A Welcome Change

Men returned from service overseas are agreeably surprised at the comparative mildness of the American tipping mania in American cities. The Paris taxi driver expects his half franc and demands it if the uniformed American forgets. The girl who serves you beer in a French cafe must have her ten centimes. But in this country it is different. Practically the only one who gets a donation is Uncle Sam, who insists on the conventional 10 per cent for his war tax.

By Special Delivery.

We wish to acknowledge receipt of a special delivery letter received yesterday from our "rowdy" friend of whom we made mention in this column regarding his activity on the South Side of the square Tuesday evening. We stated that when the young lady declined to accompany him that he grabbed hold of her. The young man takes offense at this remark of ours and in a somewhat lengthy communication states that when he asked to see the young lady from Maplecrest home that "she slapped me in the mouth. However I failed to take the count and retaliated by rapping her in the face with the back of my hand. Anyone who says I took hold of her or that there was any scuffle lies." We very much regret having made an error in this instance as it is always the Town Talk Editor's aim to get the facts of any story correctly. We also regret that the young gentleman lacked the nerve to sign his letter as Night Captain Elliott stated last night that both he and the young lady in question were very anxious to make his acquaintance. The girl states that if she is able to ascertain his identity or learn his name any time within the next six months that she will have a warrant sworn out for his arrest. Take a tip from father, Kid.

LARGE RECEIPTS WEAKENS CORN

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Prospects of large deliveries on September contracts did a great deal today to weaken the corn market, prices closed heavy ⅛c to 5½c net lower, with December $122⅞ to $1.23 and May $1.20⅝ to $1.20¾, oats finished unchanged to ⅝c higher and provisions unchanged to 97c up.

Expectation that corn deliveries on September contracts would be on a liberal scale was due more or less to knowledge that considerable amounts had been sold today and yesterday to get in store here. Besides some new corn was scheduled to arrive in Chicago Monday, which would be about two weeks earlier than any previous record. Reports were current too that supplies of old corn in the country totalled more than was heretofore generally believed to be the case. Moreover, thruout the year the uncertainty of the individual outlook continued to discourage investment demand.

Revival of export demand helped to strengthen the oats market. A bulge in foreign exchange rates, altho at first apparently ignored, was later an evident stimulus to buyers.

Provisions took an upward swing as a result of packers bidding for lard and because of higher quotations on hogs. Weakness of corn had only a temporary bearish influence.

MARKET BULKED BY LABOR TROUBLES

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Labor troubles have bulked large in the trade and industrial situation this week the great steel strike, which has rendered possibly 200,000 men idle, not all of these strikers by the way, leading in importance. While buying and production have alike been curtailed in this key industry and operations in many primary lines have tended to mark time pending a clearer view of the outcome of this strunggle, it is noteworthy that except in sections immediately affected by mill and furnace suspension, the tone of reports is cheerful. Jobbing and retail distribution have alike been large. In the central west and the south, except where, as already stated buying is interferred with and cash purchases have taken the place of suspended credit buying, actual purchasing has been active. Even in the vicinity of Chicago where it is stated 80,000 to 90,000 men went out, retail trade is reported good, mail order buying large and September jobbing and wholesale trade will reach a very high, if not record total.

"Weekly bank clearings $8,122,272,000."

STEELS SHOW BIG INCREASES

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The trend of today's stock market heightened the impression that foremost financial interests were increasingly hopeful of an early adjustment of the industrial crisis created by the steel strike.

Steels and kindred issues, namely equipments and motors were among the leading features of the session their strength from the very outset imparting a confident tone to the general list, rails and a few speculative specialties proving the only conspicuous exceptions.

Gains among popular steel shares ranged from one point in United States steel to almost sixteen points in Crucible the movement in the latter stock however, evidently being due to technical conditions.

The same reason applied to the seventeen point advance in General Motors, altho the entire motor group and its subsidiaries gained 2 to 5 points, with equipments and several of the more prominent metals.

Sugars led the food division some of the high priced and closely held shares, such as Cuban-American and South Porto rising 17 to 20 points with heavy accumulation of Cuban cane, beet sugar, industrial alcohol and American Can at gains of 2 to 5 points. Highest quotations ruled in the last hour. Sales amounted to 925,000 shares.

There was less activity in Liberty Bonds, but some of that group were strong with other domestic issues, internationals holding steady.

Sales (par value) aggregated $10,750,000. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

Most of the time he was near Larimore, Dakota, but he spent two weeks at the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Parkin, near Euclid, Minn. LOCAL VETS OPPOSE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Members of G. A. R. Adopt Resolutions Decouncing League of Nations by Large Majority—Visitors to National Encampment Report.

Yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the G. A. R. Comrades Goheen and Scott gave a short account of their visit to the national encampment.

Arriving in Columbus guides were ready to escort them to headquarters though it was late in the evening but they were soon quartered for the time. Everybody seemed anxious to entertain the old boys. If one of them was standing on a street corner waiting for a car the first auto driver passing would invite them to ride and one man took Comrades Goheen and Scott and ladies a ride of thirty miles about the place. The camp fires were interesting and many good stories were told. A good many celebrities were present and all joined fully in the exercises of the occasion.

A comrade proposed a resolution opposing the league of nations and the chair ruled it out of order. An appeal to the house reversed the decision and several speeches were made and the resolution was adopted by a great majority.

The chair admitted he was mistaken and all was serene. The whole time there was most enjoyably spent.

STORYS MOTORING THRU THE WEST

Jacksonville Tourists Covering Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma—Report Pleasant Trip.

The following letter was received by the Journal from Charles Story yesterday:

A few weeks from the home town makes one anxious to know what is going on at home. We are motoring thru the west, and enjoying every hour of the time.

We have not encountered any muddy roads, and all marked trails are well kept and well marked, making it easy to go where you will.

Much of the road thru Missouri, Southeastern Kansas and Oklahoma are hilly, but in Central Kansas the country is level and roads excellent.

We notice the crops growing lighter as we go west, until in this section we find little corn of any account, because of extreme dry weather in the latter part of the season.

Wheat is the largest crop here, but the land is so hard and dry that there is very little stubble broken, and wheat will be sown almost entirely on corn land.

Alfalfa is a good crop here, and in fact about the only redemption for the depleted soil fertility.

The most noticeable feature is the rush for building, paving and similar developments in cities and towns.

City property values and rentals are already high and steadily soaring. Much of the activity in this section is due to the income from the immense oil fields just east of Wichita, where millions of dollars are being pumped from the thousands of oil wells.

Farm lands are also advanced in value, nothwithstanding the drought and selling readily from $100 up for land to $250 for valley and alfalfa lands.

The annual "Wheat Show" to be held in the "Forum" at Wichitia, beginning September 26, and continuing two weeks, and corresponding to a county fair only of larger magnitude, always attracts thousands of people and more than state wide interest. President Wilson will be in Wichita and deliver an address at the Forum September 26, and we plan to hear him.

General sentiment in this section seems in favor of immediate ratification of the "league of nations" and a speedy adjustment of labor difficulties and work out other intricate international problems thru the proper tribunal afterward.

Summing up generally, we might say that everything seems to adjust itself in a natural way, and people are much the same everywhere. We note that the good Lord has not put all the good land, good things or good people in one place, and if land sells for $30.00 or $3,000.00 per acre, there is a reason. If men are prosperous or not, there is a reason. As in every other locality I note the church and school form the real basis and back bone of all social and economic problems and make the community really fiet for people to live in and bring up their children.

I was in a meeting last Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church, Wichita, where plans were laid to raise $65,000.00 for the Rescue and Industrial Home for girls and women to be erected in Wichita. We note the effort everywhere for better living conditions, and more attention given to prevention and protection, all of which seems just like home, for we have just such problems there, and it is the old and ever present fight between right and wrong, good and evil. While we find many commendable qualities of city administrations here the city has a city manager, at a salary of $10,000 a year we find conditions at home quite as pleasant and agreeable and after all we might look a long time to find a better home city than Jacksonville, Illinois.

JOURNAL MAN VISITS TRINIDAD SCHOOL

Institution Just North of City is Taught by Miss Meyer—More Land Needed for School Yard.

One of the most pleasant school visits the writer has mare in many a day was to Trinidad school just north of the city. The building is situated in a prominent position and convenient to the patrons though the lot is unfortunately small. Some day the district may be able to buy some more land. The building is in good repair and lighted according to law. Small portraits of Lincoln and Washington adorn the walls and there is room for a good many more articles of that kind. The school is supplied with some good maps and an organ which is in partial repair. There are few books of reference of any kind. The heating apparatus is of the approved kind and does its work well. The building is in good repair.

A brighter set of boys and girls one could hardly ask to find. So eager were they to see and hear that many of them left their seats and crowded around the visitor while he was telling them some of the wonders of a far away land he had visited. They showed an intelligent interest in what was being told them and at the end made a record for asking questions which will rank them with the Narrows and East Liberty. Don't tell Miss Kenyon this was said, but it is the fact.

The topic called for a good many queries and questions and the visitor was kept talking till it was time for him to leave and start home. The teacher, Miss Clara Catherine Meyer, was courteous to the caller and bade him come again.

Pupils.

YOUNG PEOPLE ELOPE; WED IN KANSAS CITY

Marriage of Wilbur Rogers and Mary Beth Fox Occurs Thursday—Future Plans of Couple Unknown.

Friends of Wilbur Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rogers of West College avenue and Miss Mary Beth Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fox of the Sinclair neighborhood, will be surprised to learn of their marriage which occurred at Kansas City Thursday. The parents of the bride and of the groom were notified by wire of the wedding which came as a complete surprise to both families.

The young people had been intimate friends for some time and while many knew of this friendship yet few thought of their marriage at this date as both of them had recently enrolled for the year's work at Illinois College and were just starting the school term at the institution on the hill.

During the world war Mr. Rogers was enrolled in the S. A. T. C., at Illinois College and during his service there made such a notable military record that he was warranted a sergeant and later sent to Fort Sheridan with a number of other men to take a course of instruction which would fiet him as an instructor for other college students.

During the summer months Mr. Rogers was associated in business with his father. He is a young man of much business ability. Miss Fox is a popular member of the younger set and is a young lady of much charm of manner.

No word other than that the ceremony had taken place was received and the future plans of the young people are unknown.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have many friends in Jacksonville and this vicinity who will extend best wishes and congratulations.
